Made a Killing in copper fit Thus the problem; and murder appears to be the only solution. I kept putting it down to grab something else. He generously provided me the review copy of this book. It could have been written by a 7th grader. I was utterly disappointed with the read. Decent story. Mr. Second internal consistency is a real problem. Unfortunately those 3 tidbits don't go together. I could go on. All in all not very satisfying. I wouldn't even describe it as steady. The writing was not very smooth in this book however. The thoughts were a bit chaotic and scenes were choppy. The character dialogue was awkward and unrealistic as times. I also took that road up it's the only way by car. This story.
